

COLLEGE CREDIT FOR Military Training

In partnership with the American Council on Education and the Council for Adult & Experiential Learning, FTCC has created a series of degree plans that maximize your military experience and shorten the time required to earn an associate degree.

Branch + Occupational Specialty
+ Military Training
= College Credits Already Earned

Based on your branch of service, occupational specialty, and your skill level, it is possible that you have earned up to 48 college credits that can be applied to an associate degree.

Organizational Leadership

Occupational Specialties: All

The Organizational Leadership Certificate is designed for professionals currently working in or aspiring to work in managerial positions in business, nonprofit, or governmental organizations. The business skills needed in today's leadership roles include the ability to lead, motivate, and empower others; the skills to design and implement high-performing organizational structures; and the ability to manage change in today's dynamic and increasingly internationalized work environment.

As a military leader – you have already demonstrated many of these skills and FTCC's Credit for Military Training rewards your experience.
