Bias

- Oxford Languages defines bias "prejudice in favor of or against one thing, person, or group compared with another, usually in a way considered to be unfair."
- The regulations hone in on both generalized bias against parties and specific bias against a particular, named party.

• Federal Rule of Evidence 401 gives the following test for relevant evidence:

"Evidence is relevant if: (a) it has any tendency to make a fact more or less probable than it would be without the evidence: and (b) the fact is of consequence in determining the action."

 "On one interpretation, the standard of proof is a probabilistic threshold. In civil cases, the standard is the 'balance of probabilities' or, as it is more popularly called in the United States, the 'preponderance of evidence'. The plaintiff will satisfy this standard and succeed in his claim only if there is, on all the evidence adduced in the case, more than 0.5 probability of his claim being true."
